PROFESSIONAL/RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Founded Saath (www.saath.co), a public health research and practice firm, in 2011. Clients include both domestic and international academic institutions and non-academic organizations.

Brown University School of Public Health August 2022 – Current
Assistant Professor

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan January 2020 – August 2022
Principal Investigator
Health and Wellbeing of Undocumented Immigrants in the United States Project – Funded by the Fairfield County's Community Foundation, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan Foundation, the University of Michigan Population Studies Center, and University of Michigan Rackham Graduate School, this project examined the impact of policy, community, institutional, and interpersonal level factors on Latinx mental health, including undocumented Latinx immigrants.

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan May 2018 – December 2020
Research Associate
Overcoming the Chilling Effect Project – Funded by the University of Michigan Poverty Solutions initiative and the National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences of the National Institutes of Health, this project examined the impact of the 2016 US presidential election on access to health care and social services, as well as utilization, among immigrants, particularly undocumented Latinx immigrants.

Saath February 2014-March 2020
Consultant - University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada
A South-to-South Collaborative Project to Understand & Address HIV Vulnerability of Male Sex Workers (MSWs) in Nairobi, Kenya – Funded by the Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR), this project aimed to (a) produce a reliable evidence base that can explain the individual, social, environmental, and structural factors that shape the HIV vulnerability of MSWs in Nairobi; and (b) design and implement a community-based intervention that can address these various levels of vulnerability.

Saath March 2017-December 2017
Consultant - University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada
Philanthrocapitalism, sociality, and citizen in Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Interventions – Funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC) Canada, this project aimed to (a) generate new knowledge that contributes to critical social studies of global health programs, particularly those that take shape in the new era of philanthrocapitalism; (b) develop novel methodological approaches to the study of large-scale social phenomenon that are transnational or global in dimension; and (c) illuminate the broader social effects and policy implications of global health interventions.

- Saath December 2010-May 2017
Consultant - University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada
Vaccine Acceptability among Stigmatized Populations – Funded by the Canadian HIV Vaccine Initiative, this study examined socio-cultural aspects of implementing HIV vaccine programs among men who have sex with men (MSM) and female sex workers (FSWs) in Asia and Africa. The study spanned three countries, China, India, and Kenya.
- Saath January 2015-April 2015
Consultant - University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada
Pre-Exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP) Feasibility Study among Female Sex Workers in Mysore (Karnataka), India – Funded by the World Health Organization (WHO), this study examined the readiness and acceptability of a PrEP (for HIV) demonstration project among female sex workers.
- Saath January 2014-April 2014
Consultant - Ashodaya Samithi, Mysore, India
Saath partnered with Ashodaya Samithi, an internationally recognized organization comprised of male, female, and transgender/transsexual sex workers and a UNAIDS designated learning site for the Asia-Pacific region, to develop a proposal centered on PrEP (Pre-Exposure Prophylaxis for HIV). More specifically, the proposal focused on a feasibility study to determine acceptability for a demonstration project among female sex workers in Mysore (Karnataka), India. The proposal was successfully funded by the World Health Organization.
- Saath July 2012-September 2012
Consultant - Enhancing Care Foundation, Durban, South Africa
Saath partnered with the Enhancing Care Foundation to design and implement a workshop which convened members of the Eastern and Southern Africa Knowledge Hubs Network: Kenya, South Africa, Sudan, and Uganda. Funded by GIZ, the workshop focused on coordinating and planning an e-learning training module based on the WHO guidelines for prevention and treatment of HIV and other sexually transmitted infections among MSM and transgender/transsexual populations for health professionals and policy makers.
- InCHIP, UConn, Storrs, Connecticut August 2010-July 2011
Consultant
Options for Health Supplement – Funded by National Institute of Mental Health, this HIV prevention research project and program focused on the engagement and retention in care of those living with HIV who are not yet eligible for antiretroviral therapy in KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa. The study was conducted at four matched primary care sites and included biological and socio-behavioral components.
- CIGNA Health Care, Bloomfield, Connecticut May 2010-April 2011
Consultant – Senior Process Engineer
The Way We Get Work Done – this project focused on improving software development processes in IT through the use of Waterfall and Agile methodologies. As a result of the exposure to the Fortune 100 organization and its employees, I am able to expand my approach to public health research and practice by adapting operating principles, strategies, and efficiencies that are hallmarks of corporate settings.
- MATRIX Public Health Solutions, Inc., New Haven, Connecticut March 2008-May 2010
Senior Associate
Matrix, a private public health consulting firm based in New Haven, Connecticut, focuses on empirical research studies as well as evaluation research projects both domestically and internationally.
- University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada January 2007-March 2009
Research Associate (Karnataka, India)
 - Payana – Funded by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, this prospective research study examined the impact of migration on HIV risk, vulnerability and transmission dynamics among female sex workers. A cohort of approximately 1600 women was followed for a period of 2 years.
 - Mysore Learning Site – A training center for CBOs, NGOs, and graduate students.

Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, Baltimore, Maryland November 2005-June 2006

Research Assistant

STEP Project – Funded by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, this randomized controlled trial assessed the effectiveness of a peer-based, personal risk network-focused HIV prevention intervention among injection drug users.

University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada September 2004-January 2006

Consultant (Karnataka, India)

With support from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, I addressed deficits in knowledge around intra-state mobility among female sex workers through qualitative research. My research study, which also served as my MPH Capstone, informed HIV prevention intervention design. I also presented the findings, through an oral presentation, at the 8th International Congress on AIDS in Asia and the Pacific.
